

Aggressive Insurance Introduces E-Signature

Irving, TX – September 14, 2011: Thousands of trees are grateful to Aggressive Insurance that they can reach old age. In recent weeks, Aggressive has launched a new process called E-Signature which reduces the tremendous amount of paper that slows down the insurance business. Instead of printing and mailing applications and other forms that clients used to sign on paper, Aggressive can now get their signature with a couple of key-strokes on the agents' keyboard.

With Aggressive's process, a completed application can be viewed on screen and the client can confirm acceptance with the click of their electronic signature in the appropriate places. The completed form is then stored and transmitted electronically to Aggressive where it is retained permanently as part of the policy data file.

In lines of business – like Aviation – in which an applicant may live a long distance away from the agent, the amount of paperwork is not only reduced but there's no need for clients or agents to travel for paper-signing meetings. Agents are already seeing this innovation as a way to greatly expand their market reach.
